ROXY

P R A G U E

The Roxy has had a great history. The space has existed as such since 1927 when there was a cinema on the site of today's club. The architect who designed it emigrated to the US before the war and built an identical space in New York with the same name.

The Roxy boasts several awards and is one of the top 100 best clubs in the world.

Global stars of both house and techno music have grown up with the Roxy and the drum & bass labels Hospital and RAM reached their peak there.

FACTS & INFO

If you choose cheaper but less convenient public transport you have to expect fifty minutes on the road.

↓...BY PUBLIC TRANSPORTATION

The bus is the cheapest way to get to the city centre. The disadvantage may be that you need to buy a bus ticket paid in Czech crowns or with credit card. To get the cash, you can use ATMs in the arrival halls of the airport. Or you can buy the actual ticket directly in a kiosk or at the information counter in both arrival halls (open from 7:00 a.m. to 10:00 p.m.). Furthermore, in the vending machines, located next to the bus stop, or directly from the bus driver (it will cost you a few crowns more). The ticket price is 32 CZK for a transfer ticket, with which you can freely switch among bus, tram and subway for 90 minutes. On the shorter distance and duration of 30 minutes you can use the ticket for 24 CZK (with this ticket, however, it is not allowed to switch among the types of transport). If you have more luggages, you will pay 16 Czech crowns extra.

BUS # 119

This is the most likely choice for most people because the BUS # 119 provides the fastest connection to the historic city centre. Depending on the time of day, the bus runs every 7-20 minutes and gets you to subway line A. After boarding remember to „click“ the ticket. Get off at the station Velešlavín (journey from the airport to the subway takes about 15 minutes). Subway entrance is located few steps from the bus stop. The bus runs from 4:23 a.m. until 11:45 p.m. at night.

↓...НА ОБЩЕСТВЕННОМ ТРАНСПОРТЕ

Автобус это самый дешевый способ добраться до центра города. Недостатком может быть то, что вам придется купить билет на автобус, который нужно оплатить в чешских кронах. Снять деньги можно в банкоматах в зале прибытия. Сам билет можно купить в киосках в залах прилета (открыт с 7:00-22:00). Так же билет можно приобрести в автоматах которые находятся прямо на автобусной остановке или у водителя автобуса (в этом случае он может стоить немного дороже). Цена билета 32 кроны, этот билет действителен 90 минут, с ним вы можете совершать пересадки между автобусами, трамваями и метро. На короткие расстояния до 30 минут, можно использовать билет за 24 кроны. Если у вас большой багаж, то вам придется заплатить еще 16 крон.

АВТОБУС № 119

Автобус № 119 – выбор большинства людей обеспечивает быстрый доступ к историческому центра города. В зависимости от времени суток этот автобус ходит каждые 7-20 минут, и довезет вас прям до станции метро А. Не забудьте пробить билет, зайдя в автобус. Выйдите на остановке Nádraží Velešlavín (весь путь от аэропорта до станции метро займет 15 минут). Вход в метро расположен сразу у автобусной остановки. Автобусы ходят с 4:23 утра до 23:45 ночи.

International trains stop at the central train station - Prague Main Railway Station. The station is directly connected to the subway station (line C), and is just a few steps away from the city centre, from Wenceslas Square. Most of the station is renovated and offers a modern look with plenty of stalls, shops and fast-food restaurants.

Как добраться до Праги поездом, железнодорожные поезда останавливаются на центральной железнодорожной станции: Praha hlavní nádraží. Если вы приедете после наступления темноты, то лучше доехать до Вацлавской площади на метро (не забудьте купить билет). 4. ARRIVAL TO PRAGUE BY CAR

Prague, like most European cities, suffers from very heavy traffic and lack of freely available parking spaces (the street with blue coloured areas are reserved for residents and you risk stripping off your car when you park there). That is why we recommend the use so-called P + R (Park and Ride) parking lot, located close to all major highways. More info on www.dpp.cz/en/parking.

5. SUBWAY

The Prague subway consists of three lines - A (green), B (yellow) and C (red). Subway in Prague is designed so that it gets you to all historically and logistically important locations (or at least near). Subway is clear and many stations recently underwent large renovations.

4. До Праги автомобилем

Прага как и большинство европейских столиц, страдает очень большим потоком машин и нехваткой парковочных мест(улице с синей полосой зарезервированы для резидентов, поставив машину вы рискуете, что ее заберут). Это причина, почему мы рекомендуем вам пользоваться так называемыми P+ R (Park и Ride) парковка, которая находится недалеко от всех остальных дорог. Более подробная информация на сайте www.dpp.cz/en/parking.

5. МЕТРО

О пражском метро это хорошо бы знать, что он состоит из трех трасс, – А (зеленый), В (желтая) и С (красная). Метро в Праге, разработано таким образом, что с легкостью можно добраться до всех исторических мест (или по крайней мере близко к ним). FACTS & INFO

For over 1000 years, Prague has served as the political, cultural and economic centre of the Czech state. Having been the seat of two Holy Roman Emperors during the gothic and renaissance periods, it also had the status of the Holy Roman Empire capital. Prague's history commenced in the year 870, although evidence shows the area had been inhabited since the Stone Age. The city flourished during the 14th century, under the reign of King Charles IV, who, among other deeds, ordered the building of the famous Charles Bridge or Saint Vitus Cathedral, the oldest gothic cathedral in central Europe, and Charles University, the oldest university in central Europe. Prague was then the third-largest city in Europe. Now home to some 1.2 million inhabitants, Prague became the capital of the newly set up Czechoslovakia in 1918, with the end of WW I and the dissolution of the Austro-Hungarian Empire. In 1992, Prague's historic center became a UNESCO world heritage site, and is currently one of the world's most popular tourist destinations.

На протяжении более 1000 лет, Прага служит политическим, культурным и экономическим центром чешского государства. Она была пристольным городом двух императоров Священной Римской империи в готическом периоде и в эпохе Возрождения. Прага также имела статус столицы Священной Римской империи. История Праги началась в 870г, хотя есть сведения о том, что область была населена с периода каменного века. Город процветал в течение 14-го века, во времена правления короля Карла IV, который, наряду с другими проектами, приказал построить знаменитый Карлов мост, кафедральный готический собор Святого Вита, и Карлов университет - старейшие постройки в Центральной Европе. В то время Прага была третьим по величине городом Европы. Сейчас здесь проживает около 1,2 млн. человек. После окончания Первой мировой войны и распада Австро-Венгерской империи в 1918 году Прага стала столицей вновь созданной Чехословакии. В 1992 году исторический центр Праги стал принадлежать к Всемирному наследию ЮНЕСКО, и в настоящее время является одним из самых популярных туристических мест в мире.

ALL GOOD THINGS MUST COME TO AN END

With each next step, culture is more and more reminiscent of how old we are. I have no good news for you - it won't be different in the coming months.

With the novelty of Spider-Man comes the end of a series that started 11 years ago. In addition, the fourth episode of Toy Story, whose number one is 24 this year, the next episode of Fast and Furious, which has only one thing in common with the first one - just the fact that cars are in it and children from the 90s must accept that their cartoon childhood love (The Lion King) is definitely for old people, because its modernized version is entering the cinemas. And Tarantino presents the penultimate film.

Now all we have to do is make a remake of The Shawshank Redemption and it'll be official - this country isn't for old people. So we'll see ...

If you follow Jim Jarmusch's legendary career a little bit, you know that he can alternate genres in an interesting way. From classic conversations (Kafe and Cigarettes), he will go to the old-school samurai movies (Ghost Dog – The Way of the Samurai), then get a comedy-dramatic road movie (Broken Flowers) and then switches to an existential drama spiced up with vampires and the dying Detroit (Only Lovers Left Alive). FAST & FURIOUS PRESENTS: HOBBS & SHAW

Action / Comedy, USA, 2019

Director: David Leitch

Stars: Dwayne Johnson, Jason Statham, Vanessa Kirby, Idris Elba, Eddie Marsan

Release date: 01.08. 2019

Somehow we've become accustomed to practically anything in Fast and Furious series over the years. Still, from the turn of Hobbs and Shaw, we (God knows why) expected the earthly approach. Maybe because the buddy-movie of the two sympathetic punchers was indirectly tempted to do so. Instead, the craziest part of the series is waiting for us. Running on a skyscraper, dragging with a helicopter, jumping with a motorbike on a truck, fight between half-naked Pacific dudes, a genetically modified bad guy are just a few of the things waiting for you in Hobbs and Shaw.

Drama / Comedy , USA, 2019
Director: Quentin Tarantino
Stars: Leonardo DiCaprio, Brad Pitt, Margot Robbie, Al Pacino, Kurt Russell, Tim Roth, Michael Madsen, Damian Lewis, Timothy Olyphant
Release date: 15.08. 2019

Quentin Tarantino didn't bite a small bite with his ninth movie. His novelty will take us to the end of the 1960s when a manic murder of Charles Manson's sect occurred on August 9, 1969. One of the victims was the famous actress Sharon Tate (in the film Margot Robbie), at that time in high pregnancy. Director Roman Polanski's life partner was killed with other friends in a California villa. The factual part is complemented by the story of fictional actor Rick Dalton (Leonardo DiCaprio) and his stuntman Cliff Booth (Brad Pitt).

FEEL LIKE IN HOLLYWOOD!

Although you won't find any Hollywood movie stars in the Czech streets, many of them were filming here. So you can make a picture of Czech sites that adorn a lot of famous Hollywood movies.

We have to start with the blockbuster Mission: Impossible from 1996 with Tom Cruise in the lead role. It was the first major Hollywood production that visited Prague and the filmmakers had used a number of gorgeous Prague scenes. The party at the embassy was filmed at the National Museum, the escape from modern glass restaurant (cover photo) on the Old Town Square. In this case, however, keep in mind that the restaurant itself doesn't exist – it was made just for the purpose of filming the movie.

After 15 years the production of Mission: Impossible returned to Prague, this with the fourth chapter – Ghost Protocol. They used the Main Railway Station (the opening scene with killed agent) or the corner house in the street Pštrossova 17, where Ethan Hunt ran from the police. In 2002 Anthony Hopkins and Chris Rock visited Prague together to shoot an action thriller Bad Company. Rock was chased by bad guys in Thun Street in Lesser Town (Malá Strana), Hopkins' agent went to help him through Castle stairs (Zámecké schody). Together they went to the Castle Square. They also used the Shooter's Island (Střelecký ostrov) in the Old Town (the scene with atomic bomb dealer).

Even the legendary vampire slayer Blade used the streets of Prague in his second adventure movie. From the entrance next to the pizzeria in the Sokolovská Street, the filmmakers made a vampire blood bank. And for the seat of vampire family Damaskinos they used secluded place of Vaničkova Street.

Prague had a key role in the action movie of Vin Diesel xXx filmed in 2002. Beginning of the movie was shot on the Old Town Square (the producers managed to depopulate it, which was almost an impossible task), then the camera wandered the Týnská Street, the Powder Gate, the Republic Square and the seat of the Czech philharmonic – Rudolfinum.

In 2004 our country was visited by Wolverine – Hugh Jackman, in those times without his comic book claws, but with his long coat and hat as Van Helsing. The battle in the village with three brides of Dracula (probably the best part of the movie) was filmed at the Kunratic Castle in Prague 4. Then the hero walks the street Na Kampě under the Charles Bridge, where one of the brides offers him a trade. The magnificent ball of vampires was filmed in the Saint Nicholas Church.

This list of Hollywood hits, which included Prague to its scenes, naturally doesn't end. Furthermore, there were shot movies like The Bourne Identity (street Kampa, street of Political prisoners, the Senovážná square) or A Knight's Tale (Prague Castle, the Charles Bridge). Before the walk in our metropolis we recommend to watch all of these mentioned movies.

Film Legends Museum is a unique project, the likes of which you will not find in Europe. This is a purely Czech project, which presents Hollywood in detail. The museum introduces visitors to collectibles and pop culture.

It focuses primarily on sculptures, action figures and replicas from movies, TV series, but also games. You can find Film Legends already in two locations.

The museum in Poděbrady was opened in March 2016, followed by a second branch in Prague, which opened its doors to the first visitors in February 2018. The Prague museum takes up more than 1000 m² and there are more than 650 exhibits of various scales – from 1:6 to life size.

The range of exhibits is really varied, so everyone can find something they like.

Children can look forward to an extensive Disney collection where they will see characters from famous fairy-tales – for example Frozen, Cars, Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs, Inside Out, and many others. There are also heroes from modern films – Avengers, Justice League, Harry Potter, Pirates of the Caribbean and countless others. Last but not least, the collection also contains rare relics from movie classics such as Predator, Alien, Terminator, Avatar, Lord of the Rings, and more. The featured games include God of War, The Witcher, Mortal Kombat and Batman: Arkham.

The layout of the collection is based on the needs of the youngest visitors. The exhibits are therefore separated into two rooms, and there is also a spacious children's corner and silent movie projection, where visitors can relax with movie classics. Each of the exhibits is very detailed and hand-painted, and exists in a very limited amount. In both branches, over 1300 exhibits can now be seen, which makes the museum one of the largest of its kind in the world.

The museum, which is literally a paradise for movie fans of all ages, also hosts weekend programs accompanied by live film characters. Do you want to go there and see everything with your own eyes?

Film Legends Museum Prague can be found at Sokolovská 1207/226, Prague 9. Film Legends Museum Poděbrady can be found at Jiřího nám. 36, Poděbrady. Open daily, including holidays. For more information visit www.filmlegendsmuseum.cz.

Are you planning a corporate party, or want to invite your business partners, want to experience something that they will not offer you anywhere else? It is definitely worth a trip to Horní Počernice where Praga Arena is home to the go-kart center.

Real gasoline machines on sports chassis are waiting for you on those tracks, where the passionate drivers can really enjoy maximally. However, even those less experienced do not have to be afraid to sit behind the wheel, after brief instruction they can safely go on track.

We strongly recommend organizing the endurance race in Le Mans style, with which you are sure that everyone will enjoy the fun. At the same time, there are up to 12 karts and more numerous (3-8 members) teams can constantly watch how they are doing in their race. Alternating riders and inventing tactics is exactly what a person expects from team building.

Running on the track can be seen from a restaurant with a bar, in a pleasant environment with a burning grill. The restaurant with a capacity of 200 to 300 seats offers grilled specialties, desserts, varied drinks and many other specialties, all of which are of course dependent on the agreement. The modern background is equipped with LCD screens with a timer and projectors that can be used for projection at events.

There is no problem in arranging practically anything at parties. The premises of the restaurant are also sufficient for the band to play here during your event, and there can also be other attractions, which can be ordered by agreement. You can also play billiards or darts on site.

Praga Arena combines ideal space for larger and more modest events, excellent service, and long entertainment. If you are looking for a corporate party that will be everything possible, just not boring, you have no reason to hesitate a minute. However, it is good to book ahead. The most demanding dates, especially during corporate parties, are hopelessly occupied.

As far as the location is concerned, Praga Arena is situated in Horní Počernice, where you can easily reach either by car or bus from the Černý Most metro (the journey takes only a few minutes). It is also worth mentioning its own large parking lot in front of the complex.

The Prague Arena, of course, is not there just for corporate events and big parties. You can definitely go to the area with just a few friends. The experience you gain is worth it. You will not find better karts anywhere in Prague.

U PINKASŮ

- LEGEND IN THE VERY HEART OF PRAGUE

In 1842 a new method of brewing beer began in Pilsen and it was a success. A certain Jakub Pinkas, who made his living as a tailor in Prague, heard about it. After tasting a delicious drink, it was not left out. He left the original profession and founded a pub called U Pinkasů, in which the door was not closed since then.

Over the years, the place has literally become a legend for a dewy beet lovers. Not only ordinary people, but also prominent Czech personalities such as the first president of the Czechoslovak Republic, Tomáš Garrigue Masaryk and the writer Bohumil Hrabal, went to the pub. The restaurant experienced a lot of exceptional guests and they all decorate the main corridor, which brings visitors to several smaller rooms and truly unique garden that you will not find anywhere else in Prague.

The restaurant offers its services on three floors, each with its unique designation. On the right side of the ground floor, in the so-called House of Commons, as if time had come to a halt - there is still a touch of that honest old Czech pub. On the ground floor there is also Vavřinec's kitchen, dedicated to the patron saint of cooks and pastry chefs, where a special lunch menu is served. If you go down the stairs to the cellars, you will find the Pinkas Forman with Gothic-Renaissance foundations. Originally there was a beer cellar and an ice store called the icehouse, which served to preserve beer quality. Today it is a stylish lounge for about 60 guests.

In the underground spaces you will also find an interesting exhibition on the so-called „Pinkas Nightmare“, which is running from the Pinkas cellar 45 steps with 10 tapped beer mugs. What does it mean? Jakub Pinkas simply filled the beer mugs directly from the barrels in the cellar and then brought them out to the guests. This greatly increased the quality of the beer served, but required constant running up and down the stairs. This way of serving beer, U Pinkasů continued many years and the waiters were therefore at the end of the shift very tired.

On the first floor you will find the Upper House, Tailor's workshop and Brabec's Lounge, which, thanks to the possible connection, provide up to 70 seats and the possibility of banquet or other social events. In addition, there is a cozy space called Home, providing additional 44 seats (with the adjoining lounge 60 if necessary). In short, U Pinkasů has a lot to choose from, with each part having a specific atmosphere and concept. The advantage is clear - if you have a meeting with someone at U Pinkasů, you won't look for him long, because he will tell you exactly where he is sitting. In addition, the concept is a completely unique project. No other Prague restaurant offers a similarly rugged space, which basically uses the whole house.

However, I would not be afraid to call the summer gothic garden, which is located between the Church of Virgin Mary of the Snows and the restaurant itself the best attraction. Having one cold beer in the shade of a magnificent church, founded in 1397, is will truly not happen every day. Apart from the gothic garden, another, smaller garden is situated next to the entrance to the restaurant.

At U Pinkasů you will find traditional Czech dishes made from recipes from the time of its beginnings, while meals are served in all parts of the restaurant. In the summer months there is a barbecue on the Gothic garden and there is always a fantastic atmosphere. Although there are plenty of places, it is good (especially on Fridays and Saturdays) to insure your visit. After all, it is one of the most popular facilities of its kind in the whole city, which is not only popular with tourists, but also Prague citizens themselves.

Does U Pinkasů have any weaknesses? There is one limit in organizing private events - if you want to go to the place in 100 people, for example, you will not fit (except the Gothic garden). Individual places do not have such capacity, but nobody says that everyone has to sit in one place (and again has its undisputed charm to alternate U Pinkasů environment).

You can easily find U Pinkasů, the restaurant is just a few steps from the lower part of Wenceslas Square. If you want to enjoy the city to the fullest, a visit to the U Pinkasů on your „must-see“ list is definitely not to be missed. It is a place with an atmosphere that other businesses can only dream of.

PIKNIK PARK

- A FRESH BREEZE IN MALÁ STRANA

here are many attractions and so-called tourist traps near famous Charles Bridge. And there's also a lot of commotion. Where can one enjoy the beauty of the old city and not have to push and shove through the crowds of curious visitors? Without a doubt in Piknik Park.

The recently opened Piknik Park restaurant is located in the heart of Malá Strana, just a few steps from Charles Bridge and Lennon's Wall, right on the banks of Čertovka. Čertovka in Prague is a place that separates Kampa from the rest of Malá Strana. It is an artificially created water channel that was built back in the twelfth century and still astonishes with its beautiful conception. Piknik Park is situated right at Čertovka, so the view is truly unique.

The interior of the enterprise is above reproach. It is a new, completely renovated place, designed with feeling and is quite intimate. The restaurant and garden holds a few dozen people, which I personally see as a great positive. Large businesses give off a much less personal impression, and one often feels like they are in a factory cafeteria.

The restaurant menu is focused on Italian cuisine. This is a somewhat unusual choice for the center of Prague. But it makes sense. The pursuit of a typical Czech meal has become the nonsensical mantra of many Prague businesses, and the gastronomy has stagnated in recent years as a result. Not to mention that although Czech cuisine is excellent without debate and has many advantages, at the same time it is very heavy and can't be eaten all the time (in the sense that one likes to have it out of curiosity but then prefers something lighter). The pure Italian cuisine is therefore a breath of fresh air in Prague, and in this case also an authentic one. Piknik Park has two Italian cooks under its thumb, all the dishes are made of high quality and fresh ingredients and always according to the best traditions of Italian cuisine.

Due to the focus on Italian cuisine, it is not surprising that the beverage menu isn't dominated by beer (but of course, it's on tap there). On the contrary, wine plays a primary role, which is delivered by the Vínó Hruška winery. A stylish wine shop is part of the restaurant and people can hear the offer there. There is really a large selection, the wines are delicious, and if you would like to have a glass with your meal (or even a few), it would be a big mistake to go over the offer there and not taste anything. Even though Czech wines clearly dominate the offer, there are, of course, also foreign wines.

In spite of its location in the heart of Malá Strana, Piknik Park does not have any excessive prices (which also applies to the wines where a whole bottle is priced in the hundreds of crowns). What, on the contrary, Piknik Park has - and it is a real rarity in these parts - is a year-round garden. Something like that is not common in Prague, and it's a tremendous shame. Of course, it is worth visiting the city even in colder weather, and there is no reason to hide from it. In order for the garden to be a year-round garden, it has thermal heaters.

Once again, Picnic Park is out of the ordinary, it is also thanks to the live music on the terrace (playing every day!). It is usually created by two musicians (such as a violinist and a guitar player) which gives the atmosphere of the place a truly unique touch. It's almost like from a movie - a romantic retreat in a beautiful city, excellent food, a candle on the table, and pleasant, unobtrusive and yet intoxicating background music. There is something magical about it.

It's no problem to go without a reservation to Piknik Park, but if you're preparing to go there in the evening, a reservation won't hurt. Due to its location and excellent gastronomy, it's a place that's very popular not only with tourists but also with Prague residents, despite its short existence.

Of course, it is also possible to rent the whole space for a private event. However, in that case it is good to think ahead and make a reservation in time. In the case of a reception, you do not have to stick to Italian cuisine - the chefs will be happy to hear any of your wishes.

Every city is in a way „hostage“ to supply and demand. It demonstrates the trend and, to a great extent, it may stifle originality. Piknik Park goes its own way. It offers a place that is not afraid to be elegant, affordable at the same time, with refreshing cuisine and a location that is popular for its scenic walks. You will certainly not lose out by visiting.

SINFUL NIGHT LIFE OF PRAGUE CITY

Why will be deluding ourselves. Every good capital, whose streets pulsate with life, must have beside restaurants, bars, cafes and shopping centers also (as the novelists say) the houses of love. And even Prague is no exception. But before we go into its streets, let's make a small historic revision.

It is no longer the rule that these places are for desperate individuals. Time progressed. When was the phenomenon of night clubs or prostitution itself actually born? Well, not for anything they say that it's the oldest profession of the world. It is probable that prostitution has evolved from religious belief and rituals which were held to celebrate the goddess of fertility in the Middle-Age. In the 19th century it was strongly developed and reached all segments of society from politics to high art (for example Vincent Van Gogh lived for years with a Flemish prostitute).

We know that it's not easy to find the right company in which you can feel natural and comfortable. Indeed, there are lots of them and if you had to visit them all, it would cost you the whole wealth.

For this reason, we are showing few short "best of" tips in the following pages. We guarantee that you definitely won't be bored. The ride full of excitement and beautiful women is awaiting!

6. THINGS YOU MUST KNOW ABOUT PRAGUERS IN ADVANCE!

1) PRAGUERS ARE ALWAYS IN A BAD MOOD

When there is someone with a grumpy expression that points out that he would like to kill you, don't take it personally. Prague residents are always in a hurry and still seem to be in a bad mood. In short, it works like that here. But otherwise they are fine!

2) THEY DON'T WAIT FOR THE GREEN LIGHT

You can also recognize true Praguers by ignoring the traffic lights. In short, he is looking for every possible space that will be offered to him on the road, and when he sees the opportunity, he immediately crosses the street. Red, green, it doesn't matter.

3) THEY DRINK BEER, A LOT OF BEER

The Czech Republic is well known for its excellent beer, and the Czechs have certainly never concealed themselves by being able to „send a few pieces“ to themselves. But if you with such a Prager for a beer, don't be fooled. “Going out for one beer” is really just a phrase. Every Czech drinks an average of 142 liters of beer per year, while during an average session, the trained Prager handles some 8 pieces and is not even out of his breath.

4. THEY MUST ALWAYS PLAN SOMETHING

You will probably feel like lazy, because the Praguers have - it seems - planned perhaps every minute of the day. And this also applies to weekends. It can only be Monday morning and the right Prager already knows what he will do on the weekend.

5. THEY ARE OBSESSED WITH CARS

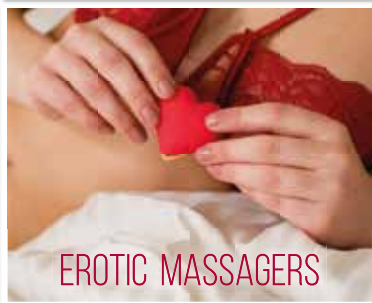

Although Prague has one of the best transport links in Europe, if we talk about public transport (train, metro, tram, bus), Prague citizens are still obsessed with driving everywhere. And even though they have to wait in the traffic jams for an hour.

6. THEY DON'T SEEM, BUT THEY HELP

Praguers are vigilant because someone keeps putting them something on the street or wants money from them. And this is really annoying them. Therefore, when you stop them, they immediately go into defense mode and can look very dull. Don't let this scare you. As soon as he realizes that you just want some advice, they change completely and almost leads you to the place. They don't seem that, but they're sweeties!
